Dedicated to.....

We the seniors of Medfield High School, dedicate this, the 1960 Peak to our good friends and advisors, Mrs. Olive Potter and Mr. Richard Dargan. Their friendship and guidance through our High School Years have made us more and more aware that teachers are truly friends. Their firm yet gentle hands have helped mold us into the young men and women we are today, ready to face life. In the years which will follow, any class that comes under the influence of these fine people, should be as proud and as grateful as we are. We wish them many more years of success in making the militant life of high school a little brighter and more meaningful.

WORDS

.....to tell a story

We came as freshmen, four years ago, having little knowledge and only a slight desire for study. Now we have changed. Our ways are clear, and our views unclouded. As our record of what has been and what we hope will be, we leave this, the 1960 Peak, to those who will follow us, that they may profit by the example of the Class of 1960.

ADMINISTRATION

We are indebted to our fine staff for their co-operation and guidance through the most important four years of our lives.

Without their assistance we would never have been capable of discovering our place in the sun.

Superintendent

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT Medfield, Massachusetts

SUPERINTENDENT

To the Class of 1960

My best wishes for success and happiness are extended to you as you finish this major milestone in your educational development.

There is much ahead for you. For some it will be further schooling, and for others it will be employment or military service. Whatever it may be, momentary reflection, once in awhile, upon your civic, social and school experiences of the past twelve years will assist you in accepting what is good and rejecting what is poor.

The best to you always.

Thomas A. Blake

YEARS IN REVIEW

Ruth Bussey

Amidst a feeling of bewilderment we arrived as Freshmen at Medfield High in September 1956. To be greeted by our homeroom teachers Miss Smith and Mr. J. H. Morris. That year B. Stevens and J. Carr served as our Student Council representatives. In October, decked out in hideous costumes, we traipsed into the auditorium to become full fledged members of the high school. After initiation we were tendered a dance honoring our newly won membership.

With confidence we entered Sophomore year with Miss Savage and Mr. Dargan our homeroom teachers. This year B. Stevens and D. Edwards represented us on the Student Council. Added to the class were B. Marshall, R. and K. Bussey. In the Spring we decorated the auditorium for Senior graduation and ended the year with a swimming party at the home of E. Harris.

Summer over, we returned to school prepared for a busy Junior year. Mrs. Potter and Mr. Dargan were our homeroom teachers. We elected R. Bussey and P. Travers class agents and F. Davis, C. LaVerghetta and E. Harris to the Student Council. Our activities included welcoming the Freshmen to High School and we held a dance with a festive theme at which they entertained us. The next big events were the Junior-Senior Christmas Dance and the 'Miss Medfield Hop.' This year, D. Mailing, the first member of our class to be so honored, was elected to the National Honor Society. The Junior Prom was enjoyed by all who danced to the music of Geoffrey Carleton's Society Orchestra. Then we went to the Lord Fox for dinner and finished the night by attending a party at Patti McDermotts house.

The final event that year was the Junior-Senior Banquet where we watched the candle lighting ceremony knowing that soon we would engage in this activity. Thus ended our memorable Junior year.

For many years we had awaited this singular year and we wanted to make it our best. The Administration had seen fit to promote Mrs. Potter and Mr. Dargan also, and they were our advisors once again. Our class agents were A. Purinton and P. Travers; C. LaVerghetta and B. Marshall our student council members and Carole was later elected president of the council. Our first activity was a paper drive in which every one participated. After that, much time was spent gathering material for the 1960 PEAK, with B. Marshall as editor and N. Baker as Business Manager. At the end of the first marking period C. LaVerghetta and B. Stevens were honored by acceptance into the National Honor Society.

Our annual Junior-Senior Christmas Dance was every bit as successful as we had hoped it would be as was the Valentine's Dance in February.

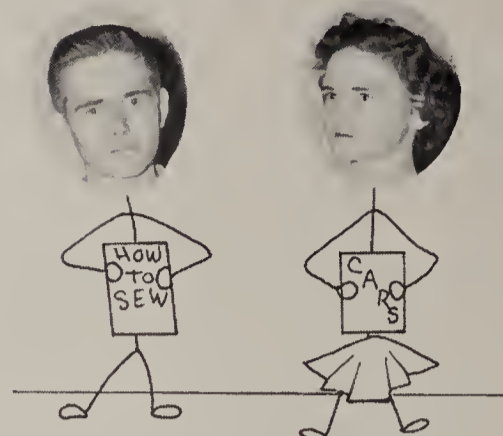

Tonight as we enjoy our own Junior Senior Banquet we are eagerly awaiting the most exciting moment of our high school life, graduation and our Senior Reception. After graduation classmates will go on to schools and colleges, into armed forces, or to business employment but no matter what may come, our four years at Medfield High School will be remembered as the happiest years of our lives.

The place—Medfield, Massachusetts

The date—November 21, 1980

You Are There

It is the first day of Home Coming Week here in Medfield and as Jim and I stroll down Main Street in this booming metropolis we see posters advertising that the Brown and Baker Circus is in town. Gail and Norma have arrived and are mixing business with pleasure. Their star performer and renowned acrobat, Peter Etter, known to his fans as Setter Etter is perched on top of a flag pole playing his part in a publicity stunt. Holding back an enthusiastic crowd is Policewoman Aylward. After our first hellos, Mary tells us about some of the town's most colorful characters. "My boss, Chief Win Crocker, has been waging an all out campaign against drag strip racers. Poor kids haven't got a chance since he had Richard Stuart 'soup up' the cruiser. Now Win over-takes the best of them." "Bob Finn now runs Finn's Funeral Facilities," Mary continues, "Bob has the largest collection of hearses in this area. He just signed a ten year contract with Donna Mailing and Peggy Travers, his professional mourners." At this point Peter makes a triple somersault to the ground and the crowd becomes wild so we leave Mary pushing them back in her own authoritative manner.

Further along Main Street we come to the officers of the Peek-a-boo Daily Mirror. Editor Bob Marshall consents to show us around. The first office is that of chic Marcia McDonald who is setting the pace for the style conscious American woman. Though she is very busy, Marcia stops long enough to tell us that her column today is one stating her approval of the shorter short skirt look. Her office is bustling so we move on and to our surprise meet David Pember. "Dave," says Bob, "is our Advice to the Lovelorn columnist. His private secretary Carole LaVerghetta helps him out and contributes a lot of her own ideas. So you see she's a pretty busy girl." We turn around and are greeted by a very dignified man, wearing spats, carrying a cane, and sporting a graying mustache, Fred Davis. It seems that Frederick is an Art and Drama Critic for the Peek-a-boo. "I just returned from Paris," he says "where I witnessed a most colossal rendition of Patrice Dermott, our own Pat McDermott, star ballerina. She's really gone places but part of the credit goes to her managers Barbara Stevens and Gail Gustavson—they're really smart operators." Saying good-bye, we continue down Main Street and step into Purinton's Shoe Mart. Happily Arthur recognizes us and shows us his store which caters only to the over-sized foot. Art's slogan:

Feet too big—shoes too small
Try Arthur's shoes—best fit of all

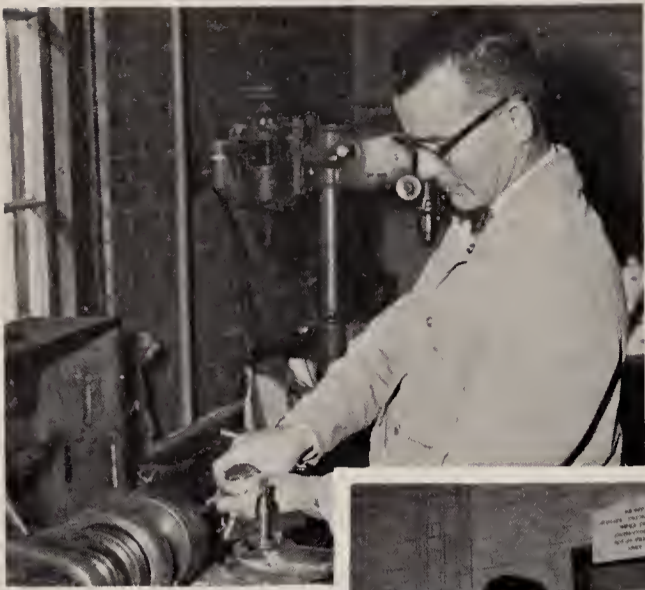

There are many new stores and businesses in this growing city. Warren Sims has been running the Medfield Super Duper. Bill Carr has opened up the old Hat Shop and has signed a contract with the government to raise monkeys for the rockets, and Bob Gorman is in the antique car business.

We decide to ride up to the school and see what's doing. In the front office we see David Clancy, Assistant Principal in Charge of Discipline. This balding gentleman is known by his students as Daddy-o.

Across the corridor we eavesdrop a moment to hear the familiar voice of James Stubblebine, prominent politician and father of six boys groaning to the guidance director, "But what about their marks, can't they think of anything but cheerleaders?" And brushing past us as we turn away is the truant officer, Kenneth Bussey who is leading Dan Dwyer Jr. into Dave's office. Dan is loudly protesting, "But I wasn't Parking on Noon Hill—I live there!"

Later that evening, having gathered all the Class of 1960, we decided to go to a local beatnik bar for an evening's enjoyment, Gordon's Hideaway, owned and operated by our own Goose, is our choice. Upon entering, we see old Goose tending bar. Karen Jodoin and Bev Owen, still looking like teenagers, are at the bongos beating out some strange melody to a poem Kenny Simpson is chanting. We would never have recognized Kenny, now bearded and shoeless, if Honey Dunn had not pointed him out to us. Standing at the door Roger made an impressive-looking bouncer with whom no one would care to tangle. Already seated is Ruth Bussey, dripping with ermines and sables. She has married a New York's answer to a maiden's prayer—the president of NBC who was a patient of hers when she was at nursing school. With her is Janet Karle busily showing pictures of her children and grandchildren to Stephen Roy, the Peek-a-boo distribution manager.

Home Coming Week flies by quickly, and as we again go on different paths, the memories of our days in Medfield, our friends, and experiences linger with us.

Like this, boys.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

To Mr. Blake the Senior girls leave a request for an introduction to his oldest son.

To Mr. Mains we leave a life-long contract from his two lovely secretaries, so that his office may always be run efficiently.

To Mrs. Richardson we leave a posse to round up lunch room debtors.

To Mrs. Stahl we leave a gold-bound copy of Macbeth.

To Mr. Keyes we leave a towel to throw around after the basketball team loses a game.

To Mrs. Pederzini we leave "cuddles."

To Mrs. Potter we leave the title of "World's Greatest Homeroom Teacher."

To Mr. Dargan we leave a bookcase for his American Heritage Magazines.

To Mr. James E. Morris we leave a box of cigars so that he may break the pipe habit.

To Miss Smith we leave a bright red bicycle so she can participate in the "Tour de France."

To Mrs. Luttazi we leave a book of unusual exercises to use in her gym classes.

To Mrs. Warburton we leave a set of foam rubber cushions for those oh so hard stools in the lab.

To Mr. Hersee we leave a brand new red plaid shirt to hang in his car.

To Mr. Harrington the yearbook staff leaves a well earned rest on some secluded South Pacific Isle.

To Mrs. Cobb we leave a padlock so that she may keep track of her erasers, pencils and other art supplies we all use.

To Mr. O'Keefe we leave another class of "X" P. O. D. students.

To Mr. Cuoco we leave peace and quiet in that period II study.

To Mr. Morris who has been searching for the perfect woman we leave a wave.

Gail Brown leaves her credit card at the Galaxy Car Hop to Norma Quinn.

Roger Dunn leaves his cha-cha boots to Bruce Peardon.

Peter Etter leaves his ability to brighten up dull classes to Stanley DeCoster.

Robert Gorman leaves his Model A and priority at the dump Saturday nights to Philip Rossi.

Ruth Bussey leaves her flirtatious ways to Jane Bryce.

Ken Bussey leaves his hunting license to Judy Stubblebine.

Gordon Lougee leaves his melodious flute to Bobby Bois.

Ken Simpson leaves his rickshaw to Tom Tapley.

Barbara Stevens leaves her place in the National Honor Society to Bobby Tammero.

Jim Stubblebine leaves his distinctive laughter to Dick Oja.

Winslow Crocker leaves a well-worn guide book of secluded parking areas to Eddy Wiberg.

Dave "Daddy-O" Clancy leaves his side-burns to Dick Warburton.

Fred Davis leaves his prowess on the basketball court to Bruce Simpson.

Beverley Owen leaves in a bright red convertible.

Richard Stuart leaves his unchallenged record of never being in school before nine o'clock to Eddie Dornig.

Bob Marshall leaves his empty physics book to a scientific junior.

Warren Sims leaves his collection of sick jokes to Judy Flanagan.

Steve Roy leaves his stock in the paper store to Dave LeBlanc.

Dave Pember leaves his autographed baseball to Nancy Williams.

Dan Dwyer leaves his distinct pronunciation to John Kennedy.

Sandra Kerr leaves her pet adventures in Millis to her sister Patty.

Carol LaVerne leaves her celebrated walk to Carol Holt.

Bill Carr leaves his copy of "The Mad Hatter" to the Medfield hat factory.

Gail Gustavson leaves her pixy haircut to Muriel DiMezza.

Ari Friedman leaves his size thirteens to the United States Destroyer Fleet.

Noemi Baker leaves her megaphone and cheering sweater to Elsie Bokorff.

Gail Gustavson leaves her strawberry blonde hair to Cathy Colantonio.

Janet Karle leaves her 4-H honors to Carol Bois.

Donna Mailing leaves her basketball uniform to Karen Tony.

Patty McDermott leaves her natural blonde hair to Tibby Ashe.

Peggy Travis leaves her Latin book to a prospective Freshman.

Robert Finn leaves a book entitled "The Best Years Of My Life" to Medfield High.

Jim Carr leaves his application for the football team on Mr. Mains' desk.

Karen Jodoin leaves her job at the Drug Store to some "hard-working" underclassman.

Mary Aylward leaves her reserved manner to Gale Johnson.

To the Juniors we leave those inalienable Senior rights to improve and make better.

To the Sophomores we leave a touch of envy that they will be the first to graduate from the new school.

To the Freshman we leave enough good luck charms to see them through their senior year.

Given: This first day of April in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and sixty at Medfield, Massachusetts.

UNDERCLASSES

The underclassmen have always lived up to the high standards in scholarship, leadership, and spirit set by those who have preceded.

On the following pages we have tried to show them from day to day around the school.

JUNIORS

R. Rossi, C. Duest, R. Warburton, R. Hardy

The Junior Class of this or any other school has always been placed in a most favorable position. Their worries about college and the future have not yet begun, so they may have a little pleasure in addition to their studies. The Juniors will soon know the anxiety of the senior year as they look forward to graduation. So, we say to you, Juniors, make the most of your year, for you'll never have the opportunity to relive all its pleasant moments.

SOPHOMORES

The Sophomore year, as all ex-Sophomores know, is a trying year for everyone.

One of the bright spots being that they will receive their class rings, officially making them upper classmen of Medfield High School.

This year's Sophomore class is expected to be the first class graduating from our new Junior-Senior High School.

We know they will carry on the proud tradition begun by classes of previous years.

Varsity Captain: F. Davis; Coach: Mr. Keyes;
Junior Varsity Captain: C. Mendelsohn

The basketball team compiled its most successful season in recent years. The Warriors rolled up nine wins and reached the quarter-finals of the Bay State Tournament before losing in an overtime game. Seven varsity players will return next year to make future prospects even brighter.

Front Row: J. McMahon, M. Rogers, C. Mendelsohn, captain; R. Adams, C. Goodsell

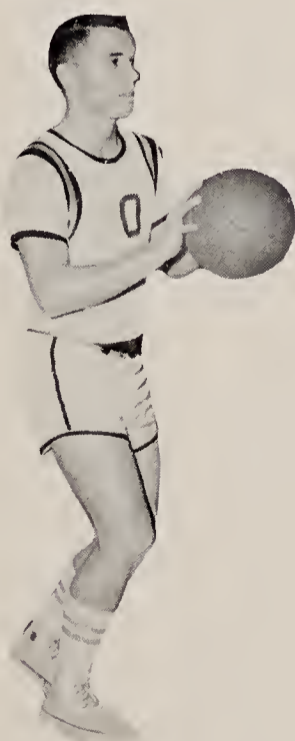

Butch Kelley and Captain Fred Davis were the Warriors leading scorers, but a very well balanced attack was the secret of the teams success. The Junior Varsity also had a good season and many of these players will be battling for Varsity spots next season.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The spirit of our girls basketball team was displayed this year when the girls played Douglas in the finals for the Championship of the Dual County League. Although they came in second, their intense spirit and hard-working determination made them, by far, a wonderful team. They are a credit to the school and to themselves.

ATHLETICS

Medfield, being a small school, is naturally limited in the number of activities in which it may participate. Those which we do have, however, receive the complete support of both faculty and students, making them most successful.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Medfield High School Student Council has inaugurated this year school-wide elections for its officers. The Council sponsored a magazine drive in the spring and also purchased the large banner which is to be flown from the flagpole on the days when the school honors high scholastic achievement or successful athletic accomplishment.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

The Athletic Council once again is the sponsor for the All Sports Banquet. At the banquet letters, certificates, and trophies are presented to outstanding athletes. Each year the Athletic Council Award is presented to the outstanding scholar athlete. Sweaters are presented as a farewell gift and to say "Thank you" to our senior athletes.

Standing: D. Mailing, W. Catenacci, J. Stubblebine, P. Hurd. Seated: M. Donahue, J. Horgan, C. Daley, N. Williams, Mr. Keyes, advisor.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Seated: D. Mailing, President; R. Adams; P. Hurd, Secretary; B. Stevens, Vice-President, P. Petrie. Standing: R. Warburton; C. Bois; Mrs. Pederzini, Advisor; D. Sutcliffe; R. Oja.

The Medfield Chapter of the National Honor Society began its third year by changing its rules to allow the pledging of new members twice annually. Members are now pledged after the first and the third marking periods. This enables the Society to consider new members in the fall and the Spring of each year. The annual induction ceremony will take place in May.

The members undertook as their first project this year the cataloging of the books in the library section in Room 201.

The number of members this year is about double that of the previous year which is witness to the fact that the attributes of Scholarship, Character, Service and Leadership are recognized by the students of Medfield as true values in today's world.

PEAK STAFF

The yearbook staff began to plan and assemble the 1960 Peak in the first few weeks of the school year. On the day of the teachers' convention in October the Senior class journeyed into Boston to the studio of the class photographer. After a few weeks we had returned our proofs and were busy collecting ads.

During the months of January, February, and March, dedicated members of the staff spent many late afternoons preparing pictures and copy to meet pressing deadlines. Finally, late in March, with a sigh of relief we sealed the envelope and mailed the final copy to the publisher.
